15. The first time you open the app, you will be asked to create a free trial account or log into your existing Red Oxygen account.

a. If you don't have an account, you may sign up for a free, 15-day trial account. Simply click on the "SIGN UP FOR FREE" button and proceed with the free trial account creation. Contact us at support@redoxygen.com if you encounter any issues.

b. If you already have a Red Oxygen account, you just need to click on the "LOGIN" button. Red Oxygen's server will auto-detect your account and automatically log you in.

How to Use Red Oxygen Gmail SMS

16. Once logged in, you should receive a welcome email from Red Oxygen. You are ready to use the Red Oxygen Gmail SMS add-on. Open any email to begin sending messages.

17. A "Compose SMS" option will be available as a default SMS-writing option. Click on this to start composing.

Adding Recipients

You can add recipients to GmailSMS in three ways:

- a. Using saved contacts in Google contacts.
- b. Creating Labels/Groups in Google contacts.
- c. Manually entering unsaved numbers.

a. Using Saved contacts in Google contacts.

Start typing the name or number of the recipient in the "To" field and Gmail SMS should automatically fetch their contact details from Google Contacts. (Make sure you have contacts saved in the same Google account to allow the add-on to retrieve them. To know more about Google contacts click here.)

b. Creating Labels/Groups in Google contacts

Similarly you can search for Labels/Groups you have created in Google Contacts. Start typing the Label/Group name in the second field and Gmail SMS should automatically fetch the Label/Group details from Google Contacts. (Make sure you have Labels saved in the same Google account to allow the add-on to retrieve them. To know more about Google Labels click here.)

- Select the contact and click on the "ADD RECIPIENTS" or "ADD GROUP" button to add the recipient or the group. You can add more recipients and groups in the same way.
- Please note that the message text area should appear only once you have added at least one recipient or the group.

26. Once the contact receives your message, depending upon your Red Oxygen account settings, they should be able to reply back. The reply will be delivered to either your email address or cell phone, depending on what account settings you've specified.

How to Reply Back to an SMS Reply

27. In the account below, we had selected replies to be delivered back to the email address and we have received a response to the text message we had sent.

28. In order to reply back to a reply received, simply open the Gmail SMS add-on while the reply email is open and Gmail SMS will provide an option to reply to the message.

(Please do not click the email "Reply" button, as that will result in an email - not a Red Oxygen Gmail SMS message - being sent)

29. When you click on "Reply SMS", Gmail SMS will automatically select the contact number from the received reply.

After clicking the "Logout" option you'll be back to the initial login screen. Where you will be asked to create a free trial account or log into your existing Red Oxygen account. You just need to click on the "LOGIN" button. Red Oxygen's server will auto-detect your account and automatically log you in. (Everytime you Login to your Red Oxygen Gmail SMS add-on you should get a welcome email from Red Oxygen.)

36. Reset: If at any point you want to delete everything and start over while you are composing the SMS, click the "Reset" option. It will clear everything and you'll see a fresh screen to start composing from.

37. Settings: In settings you can create signatures and have an option to enable or disable the preview screen.

i. Signature: You can add different signatures here. Create SMS signatures that you can add manually to specific messages.

Add signature name to identify specific signature. Add a signature copy text as it should appear in the message.

ii. Preview Screen: You can use this toggle button to enable or disable the preview option while composing a message.
